GENERAL BETTING RULES

1 GENERAL BETTING RULES

1.1 INTRODUCTION

These Rules set out the terms under which betting in our Licensed Betting Offices is conducted. It is the customer's responsibility to ensure that he/she is familiar with these Rules as we cannot guarantee that our staff will draw them to your attention. By making a bet you accept that these Rules apply to the particular sport or event on which you are placing your bet (including any applicable daily payout limits).

Throughout these General Betting Rules any reference to "the Company", "we" or "us" shall be to Jenningsbet Group and customers of the Company are referred to as "Customer" or "you".

You must exercise your own judgement when placing a bet. You acknowledge that in placing your bet you are not relying on any statement of any employee of the Company relating to any matter pertaining to that bet.

Bets can only be placed on the outcome of an event yet to be decided. If we mistakenly accept a bet for an event which has already occurred or if there is a clear indication of the likely outcome of an event then the bet will be void and your stake returned. This does not include pari-mutuel betting where offered.

1.2 CONDITIONS OF ENTRY INTO OUR LICENSED BETTING PREMISES

By law you must be 18 years or over to enter any licensed betting premises in the UK. We reserve the right to ask for proof of age and identity from any customer and to carry out checks to verify the information provided. To ensure that only those 18 years or over enter these premises such checks may be undertaken by our staff on anyone who appears to be under 21. Anyone failing to produce satisfactory proof of age will not be able to place a bet and will be required to leave the premises. Further rules regarding the conduct of customers in our betting offices are detailed in our Terms and Conditions for licensed betting offices.

It is an offence for an adult to bring anyone under the age of 18 into licensed betting premises. It is also an offence to consume alcohol in licensed betting premises.

We reserve the right to require any customer to leave our premises if we believe they are being disruptive to the smooth running of our business.

1.3 MAXIMUM PAYMENTS

A betting slip is accepted on the basis that it is the investment of one customer only. The maximum amounts that can be won (excluding stake) by any customer in one days betting regardless of stake on any bet or bets involving one or more of the same selections are set out below. These maximum amounts will apply even if, by taking a price, the level of potential winnings exceeds these amounts.

Where selections are taken from different categories listed below and are combined in multiple or accumulative bets, the lowest maximum payout limit will apply.

Where bets have been placed on different days the maximum amount which can be won in one days betting is determined by the day on which the final event on each slip is resolved rather than the day on which each individual bet is placed.

Any group of customers who have placed the same combination of selections and we believe have been acting as a syndicate will be treated as one customer for the purpose of the limits below.

Should a number of bets, containing the same selection(s) be placed in one or more of our branches and we have reason to believe that they have originated from one customer or group/syndicate of customers, then we reserve the right to limit the total payment of all those bets combined to the single maximum payout applicable in these rules.

1.4 ACCEPTANCE & SETTLEMENT OF BETS

We place bets by written instructions on a betting slip or completing a Quickslip. a Quickslip is similar to the marksense slip used by the National Lottery and requires you to indicate your stake, selections and bet type by making a tick mark in the appropriate box. Your completed slip must then be presented together with the full stake, to a member of staff who will process your bet by scanning it through our EPoS system. You will receive a printed receipt which has a unique bet number and shows a photo image of your bet (or printed details of your bet in case of Quickslip or where a 'call over' facility is available). The bet number and image (or printed bet details) must be registered on our EPoS system and be printed on your receipt for the bet to be valid. No bet is accepted until we have provided you with a valid receipt that lists the bet that we have accepted by us. We reserve the right to refuse to accept the whole, or any part of any bet. We reserve the right to void any accepted bets and withhold settlement if we have reason to believe:

a. You are under 18 years of age
b. You are involved in fraud, money laundering, collusion, match rigging or cheating of any kind
c. A bet may breach the governing rules of the relevant sport or event in question or jeopardise the integrity of the sport or event in question
d. A bet is mistakenly accepted for an event that has already occurred or there is a clear indication of the likely outcome

There may be other instances where we may void a bet and these instances are detailed under the specific sport/event included in the General Betting Rules. We also reserve the right to void a bet if required to do so by the Gambling Commission.

We reserve the right to void any bet accepted by us and withhold settlement if we become aware that the bet breaches the governing rules of the relevant sport or event in question. Where we void a bet for one of the above reasons, your actions leading to that shall be considered a breach of our Terms and Conditions and entitle the Company to terminate our relationship with immediate effect. In such circumstances we may use the monies we hold as winnings on any bets placed by you with us in order to settle any liabilities we may incur as a result of your actions. Telephone bets, postal bets or bets put through letterboxes are not accepted in our licensed betting offices. In the event of any difference between the customer and the Company, the customer's copy of the customer receipt, the selections as they appear on the receipt as captured by our EPoS system will determine settlement. It is the responsibility of the customer to check the receipt carefully as mistakes cannot be rectified after the event. It is your responsibility to ensure your slip is clearly and accurately completed. Illegible, ambiguous, incomplete and stakes are correct. You should check your receipt to verify that the amount you have paid and your bet details have been recorded. Bets can only be accepted and processed by machine if we have sufficient time to process your request until all bets on your slip can be fully settled, when any returns due will be paid upon the surrender of your receipt.

Time of acceptance

We provide an automated "no more bets time" for all horse, greyhound and number events covered in full service. Bets are valid if accepted up to this time. Except where prior authorisation is given, single bets accepted after the "no more bets time" will be void unless the bet is placed on a race with non-declared runners.

Where the official "off" of a race or event is not announced, bets are accepted up to the advertised start time.

Any bet that is inadvertently accepted after this time will be void unless we are satisfied that the bet was placed before the actual start of the event, except in the following circumstances (where betting in play is not available): on golf tournament betting up to 15 minutes after the start time; on football matches up to 5 minutes after the kick-off, providing there have been no goals scored or players sent off and any of the following sport events up to 5 minutes after the start time:- American Football, Baseball, Basketball, Bowls, Cricket, Cycling, Darts, Gaelic Football / Hurling, Ice Hockey, Motor Sports, Rugby League, Rugby Union, Tennis, in which of these instances bets will stand, unless the customer receipt confirms that the late selection is void.

Any bet inadvertently accepted on an event which has already started or finished.

Any bet accepted in error and contrary to these provisions relating to the time of acceptance, will be void even if you have been provided with a valid printed receipt. We reserve the right to refuse payment on any bet where we are unable to substantiate the selections on our computer system. We do not accept any bets nor any responsibility for a bet not being placed for any reason, including but not limited to: computer or till malfunction, electricity failure, failure of telecommunications equipment, or human error. A betting shop is by very nature a fast moving environment. Odds move rapidly and bets are taken continuously, consequently mistakes can occur. We will do all that we can to avoid this but we cannot accept responsibility for any obvious errors or omissions in pricing or the announcing, publishing or recording of prices. Any such errors, omissions or results despite our every effort to ensure total accuracy.

If we do make an obvious error in any of the following ways we will apply:

a. We reserve the right to correct any obvious error made on a bet placed in one of our "betting in running" markets and settle at the correct price or terms which were actually available with us (absent the obvious error) when the bet was accepted.
b. When a bet is placed on a market offered before an event has started and more advantageous odds than those actually available with us are displayed on our pre-match markets or betting in play markets that are available with us or, on condition that you can provide us with verification, at the best price or on the best terms genuinely available with any of the following companies at the time the bet was struck: - Bet 365, Betfair, Coral, Ladbrokes and William Hill.
c. Where the incorrect odds or terms are less advantageous than those available with us the odds or terms will be amended to the correct odds or terms available with us.
c. So obviously incorrect having regard to the nature of the betting business.

then we will pay winnings based on what we should have quoted or the price available in the general market and we will either settle the bet at the correct price or on terms available with us or, on condition that you can provide us with verification, at the best price or on the best terms genuinely available with any of the following companies at the time the bet was struck: - Bet 365, Betfair, Coral, Ladbrokes and William Hill.

For example: Where our actual price for a player to score the first goal is 11/2 but you are quoted 11/1 in error then you will be able to claim the correct price of 11/2 if the bet was placed with us or, on condition that you can provide us with verification, the price is higher than the actual price we quoted. Where, however, you have been quoted 7/2 on the same bet the price will be amended upwards to the correct price of 11/2. Bets are settled in accordance with the rules applying at the time the bet was accepted. Bets placed on "Betting Market" prices are prices not written by or endorsed by our staff, the prices will stand provided they are clearly written and were available at the time the bet was processed. Where no price is displayed we reserve the right to void the bet or to settle the bet at the price to settle horse and greyhound bets at starting price and sports/special events bets at the next available price. We do not lay 'BAR' prices nor do we accept instructions such as 'First show' prior to the transmission of a 'show' of betting for that race - any such bets will be void. Betting on Virtual events will be based on the official results of the runners, returns and results as published in the national / sporting press will govern settlement of all bets, errors and omissions excepted. Prices for Virtual events are determined by reference to the published race programme, as are the instructions 'First Race', 'Last Race', etc. Bets placed on horse racing will be settled in accordance with the official Weighed In Result. Where a result is amended after the Weigh In, for example, further to a successful appeal, the amended result will be used to settle any bets placed after the amendment. Doubles and accumulators are settled win-to-win and place-to-place, unless the instruction 'each-way all each-way' or 'each-way' (where each-way bets are clearly specified in our betting shops) is given, then the bet (unless it is one of our speciality bets) is settled by this method. In accumulative wagers where bet contingencies are related or where the same selection is taken to win more than one event, a combined price that reflects the relativity will be applied for settlement, regardless of any individual prices marked up for the individual legs. In instances where a combined price cannot be applied the bet will be settled as singles dividing the total stake available proportionately amongst the selections.

For example: England to win the match & a named player to score a hat-trick. If no combined price is quoted then the bet will be settled as two half stake singles. In the event of a dead heat for first place, the stake money on a winning selection is divided by the number of winners in the dead heat, and the full odds paid to the reduced stake, with the remainder of the stake money being lost. A similar rule applies to the place part of a bet where, as a result of a dead heat, more than the required number of selections are placed.

1.5 RESULTS

Horseracing

All bets placed on UK and Irish horse racing will be settled on First Past the Post and the official result. This offer applies to winning single and multiple bets and the win part of each-way bets. There is no restriction on staking but a maximum payout of £5,000 will be made to any one client in respect of bets placed on any one days fixtures.

The exceptions where First Past the Post does not apply and bets are only settled according to the official result are:

a. A selection takes the wrong course
b. A selection carrying the wrong weight or the jockey failing to weigh-in
c. Any Ante Post bet
d. A Forecast or Tricast bet
e. A void race
f. Any Tote/Pari-Mutuel bet
g. A selection given as the winner in error by the judge
h. A bet placed on a two-runner race or a special match bet
i. A bet placed in a 'without the favourite' bet
j. Any other special market

Bets placed on non-UK/Irish meetings are settled on official result declared by the racecourse judge and confirmed by the 'Weigh-In' announcement. If a winner is disqualified after the official result is announced, the disqualification will not affect the settlement of bets.

Greyhounds

Bets placed on Greyhound racing are settled on the official result announced at the conclusion of the event. If a winner is disqualified after the official result is announced, the disqualification will not affect the settlement of bets.

Football and other sports

Bets placed on football and other sports are settled on the official result published by the Press Association (PA) immediately after the match/event finishes. If the match/event is abandoned all bets will stand and be settled on their originally announced result. If the result is not immediately available from the PA, the result published by the official governing body immediately after the match/event is finished will be used for settling purposes. Any subsequent corrections or amendments will not apply for settlement purposes.

Where a full season of fixtures is not completed for any reason then bets on the outcome of the competition, league or tournament will be settled on the official announced back from the governing body.

1.6 EACH-WAY TERMS

Bets are acceptable win or each-way. Where we are not offering special each-way terms on a race the place part of an each-way bet at Starting Price or displayed price is settled in the following manner.

Horses

In handicap races of 16 or more runners we pay one quarter of the win odds for first, second, third and fourth places.

In handicap races of 12-15 runners we pay one quarter of the win odds for first, second and third places.

In all other races of 8 or more runners we pay one fifth of the win odds for first, second and third places.

In races of 5, 6 or 7 runners we pay one quarter of the win odds for first and second places.

In races of less than five runners the place money goes on to win.

Greyhounds

In races of 8 or more runners we pay one fifth of the win odds for first, second and third places.

In races of 5, 6 or 7 runners we pay one quarter of the win odds for first and second places.

In races of less than five runners the place money goes on to win.

Special Offers

From time to time we may offer special each-way terms on individual races. Individual races will be advertised in our shop daily. When this occurs we reserve the right to alter the standard place terms detailed above.

Where there are 16 runners or more in a race we may change the place terms to pay one fifth of the win odds on the first three places. If due to non-runners there are one quarter of the original runners or less we will pay one fifth of the win odds on the first four places. If fewer than 12 runners take part then standard place terms will apply.

Where there are 12 or more runners in a race we may change the place terms to pay one fifth of the win odds on the first four places. If due to non-runners there are one quarter of the original runners or less we will pay one fifth of the win odds on the first five places. If fewer than 12 runners take part then standard place terms will apply.

Where there are 8 or more runners in a race we may change the place terms to pay one fifth of the win odds on the first three places. If due to non-runners there are one quarter of the original runners or less we will pay one fifth of the win odds on the first four places. If fewer than 8 runners take part then standard place terms will apply.

Customers should check the place terms of a race whenever the number of places paid changes, particularly when we offer additional places.

Where there are an insufficient number of finishers to place this has been notified only those runners officially placed will be treated as successful selections and bets on all non-finishers will be lost. Other bets will be void.

Place Only betting is available, where a place stake is in excess of the amount staked to win, the difference will be equally apportioned win and place to the advertised win odds. Place Only bets are not accepted on races with 4 or less runners. Any bet in place only accepted on such a race will be void and the total stake will be invested for a win. For events other than horse and greyhound racing on which bets are accepted, settlement will be based on the odds and place terms advertised and applicable at the time the bet was taken. Place Only bets are not accepted on Tote placepots. Place Only betting is available on Tote win bets only placed through Tote Direct. When special place only betting is returned for a race this will rule settlement of all place only bets on the race.

1.7 FAVOURITES

Starting price bets will be accepted, win only, on absolute, first and second favourites, in both horse and greyhound racing. If each-way is taken in error the place part of any such bet will be void win or lose. The favourite is the horse/greyhound quoted in the official market prior to the commencement of the event. Bets placed on prices not written by or endorsed by our staff, the prices will stand provided they are clearly written and were available at the time the bet was processed. Where no price is displayed we reserve the right to void the bet or to settle horse and greyhound bets at starting price and sports/special events bets at the next available price. We do not lay 'BAR' prices nor do we accept instructions such as 'First show' prior to the transmission of a 'show' of betting for that race - any such bets will be void. Betting on Virtual events will be based on the official results of the runners, returns and results as published in the national / sporting press will govern settlement of all bets, errors and omissions excepted. Prices for Virtual events are determined by reference to the published race programme, as are the instructions 'First Race', 'Last Race', etc. Bets placed on horse racing will be settled in accordance with the official Weighed In Result. Where a result is amended after the Weigh In, for example, further to a successful appeal, the amended result will be used to settle any bets placed after the amendment. Doubles and accumulators are settled win-to-win and place-to-place, unless the instruction 'each-way all each-way' or 'each-way' (where each-way bets are clearly specified in our betting shops) is given, then the bet (unless it is one of our speciality bets) is settled by this method. In accumulative wagers where bet contingencies are related or where the same selection is taken to win more than one event, a combined price that reflects the relativity will be applied for settlement, regardless of any individual prices marked up for the individual legs. In instances where a combined price cannot be applied the bet will be settled as singles dividing the total stake available proportionately amongst the selections.

For example: England to win the match & a named player to score a hat-trick. If no combined price is quoted then the bet will be settled as two half stake singles. In the event of a dead heat for first place, the stake money on a winning selection is divided by the number of winners in the dead heat, and the full odds paid to the reduced stake, with the remainder of the stake money being lost. A similar rule applies to the place part of a bet where, as a result of a dead heat, more than the required number of selections are placed.

A full service is when information for the event; such as the runners and riders, non-runners, pre-race betting and results are all displayed in real time on the text display screen in the betting shop.

1.8 INCORRECT STAKES OR INSTRUCTIONS

1.8.1 Incorrect or Incomplete instructions

An incorrectly spelled name is not necessarily invalid, so long as it is clear what the client's intentions were. If a named selection is wrongly written so that more than one horse could conceivably be intended, the stake will be equally apportioned between each of the possible selections.

A named selection which is not doubly engaged but is timed for the wrong race or a different meeting stands for the race in which it runs.

If a horse and dog of the same name run on the same day, and it is not clear which is the selection, the bet will be settled as on the horse. If the bet is placed after one of the two has run, it will be on the one still to run.

When the only difference in name between two runners engaged on the same day is the suffix of the country of origin, bets will be settled as on the one without the suffix, unless the suffix or a determining race time is shown on the slip. If, however, one of the horses has already run that day, the bet will be considered as being for the horse still to run.

Where a single stake and name of a selection are given with no instructions, the bet will be taken as for a win single.

Where there is more than one selection in different horse or dog races and no instructions are given, with no indication being given by stake unit of the clients intention, the stake will be divided equally on win singles. If the two selections are in the same race it will be settled as a straight forecast. In all cases, bets will be settled as win bets, unless either way is specified.

Where the same selection is included more than once in a multiple bet, or where selections from the same race are staked with different stake values, the bet will be treated as a "Combination Bet" and the stake will be divided of the selections is also entered for another race on the day, the bet will be settled as for the races in which they do not clash.

Betting instructions are so illegible that they cannot be understood, the bet will be void.

1.8.2 Incorrect number of bets or selections

Where an incorrect number of doubles is stated to cover the selections given, the total amount staked on the doubles is divided and invested equally among the correct number of doubles. A similar rule applies to singles, trebles etc. However, where a double, treble, fourfold etc. is specified and it is clear that only one accumulative bet is required, it will be settled as an accumulative bet on the selections given in the instruction.

Where too many selections appear in a multiple type bet it will be settled in the following manner.

a. For a stated multiple bet (e.g. Yankee, or similar full cover named bet, whether the instructions are specified by name or given in full at equal stakes, the total stake is divided and invested equally on the full number of doubles, trebles, fourfolds, etc., as determined by the number of selections given i.e. the bet will be apportioned as a whole.
b. For mixed doubles, trebles etc., of different stakes, each constituent part will be apportioned as separate bets.

Where there are 9 or more selections in a Lucky 15 bet, four non-runners will be added. Thus, four selections with a Canadian instructed and staked, will have one non-runner added.

1.8.3 Incorrect stakes

Unless covered by the preceding section of this rule:

a. Should you UNDERSTAKE your slip, the total return from the whole of your slip will be proportioned by the amount you have underpaid thereby reducing any return due (i.e. the return will be multiplied by the amount paid and divided by the amount that should have been paid).
b. Should you OVERSTAKE your slip, the total return for the whole of your slip will be proportioned by the amount you have overpaid thereby increasing any return due (i.e. the return will be multiplied by the amount paid and divided by the amount that should have been paid). No overstaking will be returned. However, if there is more than one bet involved and it is clear to which bet the overstaking applies, then that bet only will be apportioned.
c. Where a client stakes a through-the-card bet for fewer than the number of races that are on the programme, the stake will be apportioned over the races that are on the card.

1.8.4 Unnamed selections and favourites

Where an unnamed selection or favourite in a single or multiple bet is untimed or incorrectly timed, it will be 'on' for the next race at that meeting unless the time stated can be related to another horserace meeting covered by a full race-by-race service in which case the race time will take precedence. If a selection is not thereby defined, the stakes will be divided equally between those favourites whose race times continue to coincide.

Where a favourite bet has no meeting, race time or any other indication of the race intended, it will stand for the earliest advertised race, horse or greyhound, still to be run. When a favourite bet does not name the meeting nominated, the bet will stand for the races timed, providing those times do not clash with other races with the same advertised race time. Where times of such races clash, the stake will be divided equally between those races having the same advertised times. Where races are being transmitted race-by-race to our offices, the same applies to numbered selections except that the stake is only divided over those races where the times clash and the numbered selections appear.

Where a race card number is stated and no such number appears in the race then that selection will be treated as a non-runner.

Combination or accumulative bets are involved and the client makes clear by the exact times given, that only one meeting can be intended, he will be on that meeting, even if some race times clash with races at other meetings. For example, if a bet is placed on a 3.05, 3.35 and 4.05 race and the 3.05 runs at times at Ascot, the bet will be on that meeting, even though there are other meetings with races at 2.00 and 3.45.

If a client indicates the race by the order it appears on the racecard, it is treated as an untimed bet, unless the word 'race' appears in the instruction. The order in which races are run is of no effect.

Where meeting and time are given, but no selection, it will be taken as for the SP favourite.

1.9 DOUBLE ENGAGEMENTS

An untimed single bet for a selection which has more than one engagement will be taken as for the first race in which it runs, unless an 'if' appears in the instruction, when it will be taken as for the race which is timed for the race where both were engaged.

Where a selection is doubly engaged and is timed by the client, it will be settled as a bet for that timed race only. Where it is untimed, or incorrectly timed, the bet will be on the first race where it runs, after the time of acceptance.

If two selections, one of which is doubly engaged, are included in an accumulative bet, and run in the same race, the one which is double engaged will be deemed to be timed for the race where they do not clash. If both are doubly engaged, the selection which is timed on the earlier race in which they do not clash is taken and the other timed for the race where they do not clash. This does not apply to single wagers, which will be treated as entirely separate bets.

1.10 LATE WITHDRAWALS

Bets placed on withdrawn selections, including ante-post bets, if a horse is withdrawn not under starter's orders or has been declared 'not to have started' by the Starter, bets will be settled in accordance with Tattersalls Rule 4(c), which states that backers of withdrawn horses will have their stake refunded. When there has not been time to re-form the market, deductions are made from winning returns on the race, exclusive of stake, according to the table shown below. When there has been time to re-form the market, the deductions if any, will apply only to bets at screen or board prices struck prior to the announcement of the withdrawal.

Tattersalls' Rule 4(c) Deduction Scale (Per Pound).

| Price of the non-runner at the time of withdrawal | | | Deduction |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1) | 1/5 | or shorter | 90p |
| b) | 2/11 | to | 2/17 |
| c) | 1/4 | to | 1/5 |
| d) | 2/9 | to | 1/4 |
| e) | 2/5 | to | 1/3 |
| f) | 8/15 | to | 4/9 |
| g) | 1/2 | to | 4/7 |
| h) | 4/5 | to | 4/6 |
| i) | 20/21 | to | 5/6 |
| j) | Evens | to | 6/5 |
| k) | 5/4 | to | 6/4 |
| l) | 8/5 | to | 7/4 |
| m) | 9/5 | to | 2/1 |
| n) | 12/5 | to | 3/1 |
| o) | 16/5 | to | 4/1 |
| p) | 7/1 | to | 11/2 |
| q) | 6/1 | to | 9/1 |
| r) | 10/1 | to | 14/1 |
| s) | 20/1 | over | 14/1 |

In the event of two or more horses being withdrawn before coming under starter's orders, the total deduction will be the sum of the individual deductions, up to a maximum of 90 pence in the pound. Where a single 5p Rule 4 deduction applies to any selection in a 10p or 20p Yankee, the deduction will be reduced, the deduction will be waived. If the total Rule 4 deductions exceed 5p, then all deductions will be applied.

1.10.1 Horses - Early Prices

The Tattersalls' Rule 4 (c) Deduction Scale will be applied to bet settlement when horses quoted in our Early Prices are withdrawn before coming under starter's orders or have been declared 'not to have started' by the Starter. In such circumstances, the appropriate level of deduction will be determined by reference to the prices on offer at the time of withdrawal.

1.10.2 Greyhounds

When a greyhound is withdrawn:-

a. All bets struck at displayed prices prior to the withdrawal, and not cancelled by the customer, will be settled at starting price. In the event of a NO RACE being re-run, all bets for that race stand at starting price for the re-run race unless previously cancelled by the customer.
b. All bets struck at prices not displayed on individual heats or one off races will be settled at starting price, and bets on the withdrawn greyhound will be void.
c. See Rule 1.15 for ante-post bets on a greyhound to win a competition.

1.10.3 Sports Betting

We reserve the right to apply a Rule 4 deduction to outright bets on sporting events when a player, contestant or team is withdrawn from the betting after having been declared to play. For betting purposes we consider a player to have been declared to play if he is included in a first round draw (for sports like tennis, snooker and darts) or its equivalent in other sports.

1.11 EARLY AND SHOW PRICES

Early Prices are prices advertised for a race after the final declarations have been made. They are available each day for selected races up to the first show of prices from the on-course market or the first show of prices from our service provider transmitted to our shops. Board (Show) Prices are generally available 5-10 minutes before the start of horse and greyhound races and are transmitted to our shops from our on-course market or are collated by our service provider. The following applies to bets at 'Early Prices' or at 'Show Prices' on screen or board. In events with 2 or more runners, we will lay the current quoted price at the time the bet is accepted. Where an 'Early Price' or 'Show Price' is taken it will apply to selections wherever it appears on the slip, unless the client specifies a different price on the slip specify otherwise. If a bet is inadvertently accepted with any prices not written by or endorsed by our staff, the prices will stand provided they are clearly written and were available at the time the bet was processed. Clients who request a price should ensure that the quoted price has been written on the betting slip. If there are any palpable errors in the Board Prices laid, transmitted or marked-up, the bet will be settled at the corrected price for the bet was made or at SP, whichever is the greater. We do not lay 'BAR' prices nor do we accept instructions such as 'First Show' prior to the transmission of a 'show' of betting for that race. Any such bets taken in error will be settled at starting price. Place terms on each-way bets at displayed odds are governed by the number of starters in the race and not by the number of declared runners at the time the price was taken. Should a horse be withdrawn, whereby Tattersalls Rule 4(c) would apply, no prices can be laid after the withdrawal, unless there has been time for a new market to be formed. In 'Early Price' horserace bets, if any of the horses do not run, stakes will be refunded on the withdrawn horses and all winning returns from the race will be subject to deductions on the Rule 4(c) scale, depending on the odds of the withdrawn horses at the time of withdrawal. For horses, a bet placed after the final declarations have been made (generally 10am the previous day) is not an ante-post bet and in the event of any withdrawals, the withdrawn horse will be treated as a non-runner. Returns from bets on other horses in the event will be subject to deductions on the Rule 4(c) scale, depending on the price of the withdrawn horse or horses at the time of withdrawal. Where a race contains reserves at the final declaration stage we will offer an early price for all of the declared runners including the reserves. When a reserve has been promoted to a non-runner we will revise the market and all bets struck prior to the announcement of the non-runner will be subject to a Rule 4(c) deduction (where the price of the non-runner is such that a Rule 4(c) deduction applies). If a reserve becomes a non-runner prior to the racecourse declaration stage a reserve becomes an official runner by taking the place of a withdrawn horse. If a reserve then Rule 4(c) will apply to the reserve horse if it is subsequently withdrawn. In 'Early Price' greyhound bets, if any of the greyhounds do not run, all 'Early Price' bets nominating that greyhound, either by trap number or name will be void, with all other 'Early Price' bets on remaining runners in the race settled at SP.

1.12 DEAD-HEATS

In the event of a dead-heat for first place, the stake money on the winning selection will be divided by the number of winners in the dead-heat and full odds will be paid to the divided stake with the remainder of the stake being lost.

A similar rule applies in place betting where, as a result of a dead-heat, more than the required number of selections occupy the place positions.

1.13 POSTPONEMENTS

If races are set down for a time because of eventualities such as weather conditions, bomb threats, power loss, traffic delays etc., or if the meeting is postponed to another day and the overnight declarations stand (meaning that the race is not re-opened) then all bets stand unless a refund is requested by the customer prior to the race taking place. Where bets have been placed at ante-post prices then different rules apply, see section 1.15 Ante-Post.

1.14 RE-RUN RACES

1.14.1 Horses

If a race is re-run, then bets at board prices or early prices in the original race will be settled at SP. Horses which came under starters orders in the first race but did not go to post for the re-run will be considered non-runners and returns on the remaining runners will be subject to a Tattersall's Rule 4(c) deduction.

1.14.2 Greyhounds

When a race is declared a no-race and is re-run, all bets will stand for the greyhounds which take part in the re-run, but single bets may be cancelled by mutual agreement between the customer and the Company. Selections in multiple bets will stand for the re-run race. The starting prices returned on the re-run will rule settlement, board prices from the original race will stand unless there is a non-runner in which case they will not be valid and such bets will be settled at starting price. If betting is suspended bets may be cancelled by mutual agreement between the client and the bet taking officer. A re-run race is taken as in the order it was originally placed on the programme, and no notice is taken of the time of the actual re-run. When a race is declared void and is not re-run, all bets on that race will be void, and will not count for any additional reserve race.

1.15 ANTE-POST

Ante-post bets are accepted on horse races at quoted prices up to the time that the overnight declarations are known (10 a.m. on the day before the race). Ante-post bets are accepted on 24 hour declarations apply and 10 a.m. two days before the race where 48 hour declaration apply) and on greyhound racing before the day on which the race is run. Ante-post bets are accepted on the basis of all-in, run-or-not, entered-or-not, so long as entry was not precluded by the conditions of the race. Returns for accumulative bets will be settled in the same manner as SP bets.

Unless otherwise provided for, the following rules apply:

a. Where an event is postponed, then provided the overnight declarations stand, ante-post bets will stand until the event is decided or abandoned. If the original overnight declarations do not stand then bets will be void.
b. A selection scratched from or not taking part in an ante-post event is a losing one if at the time the bet was made there was a possibility to win.
c. Single ante-post bets will be void if the race is abandoned, declared void, if the conditions of the race are altered after the bet is made, or if the horse subsequently is balloted out under the Jockey Club rule limiting the number of runners in the race. In any such cases, accumulative and combination ante-post bets will stand on the remaining legs, at the prices laid on the selections in those races, with the void selection counting as a non-runner throughout the bet.

In the event of horses being balloted out, the liabilities of layers against the horses remaining will be reduced on both win and place bets. Where no price is available at the time of the ballot, the horse will be treated as a non-runner. The decision of the Tattersalls Committee, in accordance with Tattersalls Rule 4(c), dependent upon the odds currently available against the withdrawn horses at the time of the official withdrawal. When prices are offered to win a greyhound competition, bets accepted before the draw for the penultimate round (semi-final) be deemed void win or place. Bets accepted after the draw for the penultimate round (semi-final) but prior to the draw for the final will not be subject to Ante-Post rules, and any non-runner will be treated as void for settlement purposes. Tattersalls' Rule 4 (c) will apply to bets on the remaining greyhounds, with the amount of the deduction based on the price of the withdrawn greyhound at the time that the bet was struck. When a greyhound is withdrawn after the draw for the final is made all bets struck after the draw but prior to withdrawal at our prices will be settled at starting price, and bets on the withdrawn greyhound will be void. Bets are accepted at our prices on ruling at the time the bet is accepted by us. We reserve the right to correct any palpable errors. Each-way bets are calculated win-to-win, place-to-place, and for the place part the number of places paid is determined by the number of runners at the time those participating at the time of acceptance. Place only bets, forecasts and conditional bets such as 'any-to-come' are not accepted ante-post, and if taken in error, the 'if' element will be ignored. When the same selection is taken to win two or more races in ante-post doubles or accumulators, the price taken for those will governed by settlement.

1.16 CONDITIONAL BETS

1.16.1 'any-to-come' or 'if cash'

'any-to-come' or 'if cash' bets, are no longer accepted. Any taken in error will be settled as void with stakes returned.

1.16.2 First past the Post

Bets are accepted on races clearly marked 'First Past the Post' (FPP) on the slip. Settlement is then governed by the result first given by the racecourse judge as transmitted by the course betting service provided the winner has completed the correct course. This does not include void races or where the race is determined by incorrect weights carried. It also does not include bets which rely on dividends being declared e.g. Pari-Mutuel, Tote Jackpots, Tricasts etc., and all bets on racing taking place outside the United Kingdom which will be settled according to the Rules of Racing.

1.16.3 If/Not/Not...If/Stop at a winner

'Stop at a winner' bets are no longer accepted. Any taken in error will be settled as void with stakes returned.

1.16.4 Jockey's mounts, Owners or Trainer's selected

When backing a jockey's mounts, trainer's runners or owner's runners in doubles, trebles, accumulators must be specified. If 15 doubles are instructed and the jockey rides in only 4 races the bet will be settled as on 4 mounts plus 2 non-runners.

Where a meeting is not specified and a jockey is instructed in doubles, trebles, etc., will be settled as for the first meeting at which the jockey rides, after the time of acceptance of the bet.

Where it is only a single bet and the race is not timed, it will be on the next race to be run in which the jockey has a mount.

Owner's or trainer's selected is the horse of the named person quoted in the official SP at the shortest price. If two or more are joint favourites the stake money will be divided equally between them. Accumulative bets are settled in the same manner as for jockey's mounts.

Where specific races are requested and the jockey has no mount in a specified race, this will be treated as a non-runner. This also applies to owners and trainers selected.

1.17 FORECASTS

Subject to the following rules, forecasts are accepted in singles, doubles and trebles only. Accumulators are not accepted, unless in specially bets available in our offices. If otherwise accepted they will be settled as trebles with the stakes boxed equally among the selections. Forecasts are available in our betting shops on selected races and are in accordance with the computer straight forecast dividend. Any forecast accepted in error on races with less than 3 runners or reduced to less than 3 runners by non-runners will be void and stakes returned.

'In-named favourites cannot be used in forecasts, where selections must be named or numbered, and forecasts including 'fav' selections will be void. If a forecast contains a non-runner, the same selection is repeated, a reduced number is specified which does not appear on the course card, or a lone selection is made, the bet will be void with stakes settled as a single. If the selections run in different races then the stake will be split as two half stake singles on each selection. Forecast doubles or trebles will be calculated by multiplying the appropriate forecast return for each forecast. Written instructions for a selection with the field or a selection against the field will be taken as for the selection to win. Instructions for the field with, or the field against, will be taken as for the selection to finish second to the named selection. Bets placed on the reverse forecast will be made as a bet on all the possible forecasts. If a smaller number of combinations than the full permutation is required, the slip must make this clear. Thus £2 COMB FOR ALL WITH £6 invested, will be settled as 6 £1 forecasts unless the client writes '3 x £2 FC AB, AC, BC'. Where a permutation is used which could apply either to forecasts or tricasts and neither is specified, the bet will be settled on forecasts.

1.17.1 Tricasts

Should there be no Computer Straight Forecast returned bets will be settled as Tote Exacta. If neither is returned bets will be void for settlement purposes.

1.17.2 Greyhounds

In all circumstances where a Greyhound Computer Forecast is not declared bets will be settled on the Straight Forecast dividend. Bets on Tricasts will be void if a Computer Tricast dividend is not declared but will be settled at Computer Straight Forecast returns or where no Computer Straight Forecast is declared at NSL Straight Forecast returns.

1.18 TRIFECTA

Tricasts, in which selections must finish first, second and third in correct order, in races for which an official computer tricast return is declared, are accepted in singles only. Stakes for tricast doubles or trebles, where taken in error, will be divided equally to create single tricast bets. Bets placed on tricasts in races for which no tricast is acceptable and, if accepted in error, the A.T.C. or 'if cash' instructions will not be actioned. Tricasts may be declared on certain greyhound races not transmitted live into our offices. Bets accepted for races not specified, or for which no tricast dividend is declared, will be settled in accordance with the Straight Forecast dividend, if the selections finish first and second, with the selection nominated for third place disregarded. Only named selections or racecard numbers will be accepted in tricasts, with name taking precedence where both are used. In the event of any ambiguity, the tricast will be declared void, as will any tricast which contains an unnamed favourite. Where the same selection is repeated the stake will be invested as a CSF on the two different selections in the order written. Should a tricast be accepted on a non-runner or a reduced number is specified which does not appear on the racecard the total stake will be invested on a straight forecast on the remaining selections in the order written. In the case of a non-runner in a reduced field, the tricast will be settled under our general rule applying to non-runners in a tricast. Should there be 2 non-runners or 2 racecard numbers are specified which do not appear on the racecard then the total stake will be invested on a win single at SP on the remaining runner. For the purposes of settlement, a permutation is defined as a series of tricasts covering all the possible combinations with the selections in the computer return. If fewer than 3 finish in a race, a dividend will be declared on those that finish.

1.19 TOTE BETTING

We are authorised by UK Tote Group to accept bets for settlement at Totalisator od
